Part I. Service Needs, Priorities & Strategy – (Government Code Section 30061(b)(4)(A))

A. Assessment of Existing Services

Include here an assessment of existing law enforcement, probation, education, mental health, health, social services, drug and alcohol, and youth services resources that specifically target at-risk juveniles, juvenile offenders, and their families.

Many agencies work together in Tehama County to provide resources to assist youth in the community. These resources are available to youth currently or previously involved in the justice system, as well as youth who are at risk of becoming involved in the justice system. Below are available resources:

Empower Tehama

A community-based organization that is under contract and provides counseling services to youth who are victims of trauma, domestic violence, sexual assault or CSEC victims, and CAMP Hope which is a summer program for at risk youth in the community.

Job Training Center

Job Training Center works with Probation youth (including incarcerated youth) in teaching essential life skills as well as teaching them the basics to attaining eventual employment through the creation of resumes, experiencing real life interviews and job offers. The youth also get assistance with college prep in applying for FAFSA and any other applicable financial to gain advanced education.

Maxine Singer Youth Guidance Center (aka: Camp Singer)

Tehama County Probation contracts with Yuba and Sutter County Probation Departments to have youth attend the Maxine Singer Youth Guidance Center Camp Singer program as an alternative to out-of-home placement and extended juvenile hall stays. Camp Singer is a 365- day court commitment program for youth ages 14 and older, wherein the last phase is spent on a family furlough. Youth can graduate from the program up to six months earlier if their behavior and individual progress warrants an early release. The primary objectives of Camp Singer are to focus on community protection and redirection of maladaptive behaviors. Camp Singer focuses on providing a highly structured and disciplined environment which will help curb the youth's delinquent behavior.

Project RESTORE

A grant funded program currently administered by the Tehama County Department of Education. It is designed to provide at-risk adolescents with a second chance by steering them away from the juvenile justice system. Project Restore offers a holistic approach that combines counseling, life skills training, and mentorship to address underlying issues that contribute to delinquent behaviors. Each youth referred to the program engages in therapeutic sessions that focus on emotional regulation, conflict resolution, and building healthy relationships; empowering them to make positive choices and navigate life's challenges more effectively. Project Restore helps break the cycle of crime and recidivism by focusing on rehabilitation rather than punishment. The ultimate goal is to create a safer environment and empower the youth through exposure to resources in and outside their community. The mentorship component places a stable adult in the life of the youth to positively influence the youth as to the value of making good choices in their life.

Red Bluff High School

Red Bluff High School hosts the Restorative Justice Program which is an afterschool diversion program that provides students with the opportunity to reflect, change, and re-direct negative decisions that led to their negative behavior and consequences.

Shasta Treatment Services

Probation has contracted with Shasta Treatment Services in Redding California, for local sex offender treatment. Youth are initially assessed utilizing JSORRAT as well as any other applicable assessments depending on the age of the youth. Program attendance is every other week for a minimum of one year (with good participation) and the youth are assigned homework in between sessions which is monitored. It is also possible certain sex offenders will require a level of treatment necessitating a regional contract with another County who could provide group-based services with like offenders. Certain youth, depending on their circumstances or specialized needs, may benefit from non-local custodial placement. With the low numbers of sex offenders from Tehama County, it is possible for it to be in the best interest of the youth to get services from another County capable of serving more youth with similar needs, allowing for the group counseling dynamics needed in sex offender treatment.

Student Attendance Review Board (SARB)

Comprised of representatives from various youth-serving agencies, the mission of SARB is to help truant or recalcitrant students, and their parents or guardians solve school attendance and behavior problems through the use of available school and community resources. The goal of SARB is to keep students in school and provide them with meaningful educational experiences. SARB normally consists of the following members: Representatives from the District Attorney's office, Mental Health, Drug and Alcohol, Local Law Enforcement, Probation, School Principals and a SARB Coordinator from Tehama County Department of Education.

Tehama County Behavioral Health Services

Mental Health - Provides a full array of mental services for youth through a variety of county-operated and contracted providers, offering prevention and early intervention, outpatient, crisis intervention, residential care, stabilization services, and inpatient psychiatric hospitalization.

Substance Use Recovery Services - Provides specialty programs and services to at-risk youth in the community, whether probation wards or youth/students in the community. They also teach Moral Reconnection Therapy.

Tehama County Department of Social Services – Wraparound

The mission of wraparound is to keep children at home with those who love them and know them best by linking families with community support and assisting with a variety of issues including homelessness, family conflict, and family therapy. The family creates a family team and has the assistance of a Care Coordinator who leads the team which includes a collaboration of county partners depending on the family's needs.

Tehama County Probation Department

The Probation Department supports justice-involved youth who remain in their own homes as well as out-of-home placement youth. All youth receive a JAIS assessment from which a working case plan is created specifically tied to each individual youth's risk and needs. When an out-of-home placement order is made, the Probation Department will place the youth in the most appropriate setting after evaluation of numerous factors, including educational needs, mental health needs, substance abuse history, risk and responsivity factors, ability to thrive in a parent's home, and the parent stability and/or availability. While placed out of the home each youth will receive counseling, life skills, and education services. Youth who remain in their homes receive the same services in addition to evidence-based programs, Aggression Replacement Therapy (ART), Moral Reconnection Therapy (MRT), Change Company Interactive Journaling, and Parent Project (offered to parents of youth). Some youth also participate in community service and are exposed to various prosocial activities. The Changing ARMOR Program is an in-custody 120/180 alternative program for youth who have high-risk criminogenic behaviors and is a program designed to redirect those delinquent behaviors.

Family Counseling Center

The Family Counseling Center offers professional counseling to families and children throughout Tehama County offering service in both North and South County locations. Treatment focuses are on family conflicts, parenting, anxiety/stress, depression, abuse issues, addiction issues, and grief. Clients are provided with a range of therapeutic approaches including Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (CBT), Eye Movement Desensitization and Reprocessing (EMDR), and other methods.

Greenville Rancheria

Greenville Rancheria provides many services to the Red Bluff Community and is available to any youth throughout the community. There is a walk-in clinic that provides treatment for non-life-threatening medical issues when youth are unable to be seen by their primary care physician. Mental Health services including counseling, psychiatric, and medication services for youth are available with treatment options focused on a wide range of issues. Greenville Rancheria maintains a community health resource that allows patients to attend a variety of activities and participate throughout the community with a focus on improving health outcomes. Some of these services include home visits, early childhood education, and guided weekly walking groups to just name a few. Dental, orthodontal, and hygiene services are also provided.

THRIVE (Transform, Heal, Restore, Innovate, Vision, Educate)

THRIVE is a youth intervention program through the Department of Education for youth who have been cited or had interactions with law enforcement. Youth are referred to THRIVE by Tehama County Probation. The goal is to address the youth's needs for support in the domains of mental health and/or substance abuse. Once enrolled, they are paired with a Wellness and Behavior Intervention Technician (WBIT) who supports the youth in the completion of an online learning curriculum called Advent. Advent courses are evidence-based and address a variety of relevant topics including bullying, marijuana use, and anger. The WBIT and youth meet regularly 7 until the coursework is complete. While they are working on the Advent classes, the WBIT also gets to know the youth and builds a relationship with them. The WBIT also screens and assesses the youth using the Child and Adolescent Needs and Strengths tool. This tool is used by the THRIVE Clinician to start mental health counseling and/or substance abuse recovery support. This is a four-to-sixteen-week process depending on how many Advent classes they have been assigned and if they opt into mental health counseling.

TUPE (Tobacco Use Prevention Education)

TUPE is a youth intervention program through the Department of Education that provides Brief Intervention, Healthy Families, and Cessation support for youth in all Tehama County Schools. Schools and/or law enforcement can refer youth for TUPE services for the following reasons: They get caught using substances on campus, the parent requests the student receive services, or the student requests services.

Resourceful Adolescent Program

Tehama County Probation has developed a contract with Northern Valley Catholic Social Services to provide the Resourceful Adolescent Program (RAP), which serves in custody and out of custody youth. This program was designed as a prevention program that aims to build resilience, enhance coping skills, and reduce risk factors associated with depression, anxiety, and emotional distress. Group sessions are once a week for 40-50 minutes and focus on recognizing strengths, building confidence, managing emotions, self-regulation, cognitive behavioral tools, problem-solving skills, navigating relationships, reducing conflict, building support networks, empathy, promoting peacekeeping, and healthy decision-making.

Seven Challenges Program for Adolescents

Tehama County Probation has partnered with Children's First to offer the Seven Challenges Program for in custody and out of custody youth. This program targets drug addiction and abuse and aims to meet youth where they are, which is usually resistant and reluctant to change. Counselors avoid power struggles and insincere commitments to change by striving for honesty and engagement. They use education, finesse, and respectful confrontation to lead youth toward a drug free lifestyle by taking a slow but steady approach.

Describe what approach will be used to facilitate collaboration amongst the organizations listed above and support the integration of services.

The two types of collaboration that are utilized among agencies that provide services to at-risk juveniles, juvenile offenders, and their families are team collaboration and community collaboration. Our approach is to facilitate collaboration among organizations, with the goal of integrating services to build community collaboration that evolves into team collaboration. Examples of this approach include:

- Blue Ribbon Commission – Chaired by the presiding Superior Court Judge, a collaboration of county partners meets bi-annually to discuss programs being offered as well as collaborate and support the integration of services in the County.
- Commercially Sexually Exploited Children Task Force (CSEC) – This team is a collaboration of county partners who meet bi-monthly for the purpose of collaborating resources, reviewing protocol follow through and facilitating emergency meetings as needed if/when a CSEC victim is identified and in need of services.
- Interagency Leadership Team (ILT) and The CSOC Advisory Team – With the implementation of SB2083 two teams have been formed to serve as collective boards and who meet as separate teams monthly.

The ILT governing members consist of executive level county partners from: Tehama County's Department of Social Services, Health Services Agency, Probation, Department of Education, First Five Commission and the Far Northern Regional Center have joined together to develop and implement an integrated children's services program known as the Tehama County Children's System of Care (CSOC). The ILT members will utilize a shared decision-making process for all programs and services identified by the system partners.

Supporting and reporting to the ILT is a CSOC Advisory Team consisting of seasoned managers and supervisors from the agencies listed above and in addition to: Greenville Rancheria ICWA Representative, and Senior Service Coordinator of Far Northern Regional Center. This team also meets monthly and will execute the vision of the ILT working with community agencies and tribes to ensure collaborative and integrated strategies are utilized and promote and utilize strength-based, family-focused practice on systems-wide basis.

Following California's integrated core practice model the CSOC partners agree to mutually use the principles, values, and practice behaviors of the California Integrated Core Practice Model for Children, Youth and Families (ICPM) in their interactions with youth and family, with one another, with contractors and county partners. Use of ICPM's principles and behaviors will support System of Care efforts to deliver services that are trauma-informed and culturally competent and will aid department leaders in support of the practice culture change that highly integrative service models require. The Ten Guiding Practice Principles of the ICPM outline a service delivery that includes the following key components:

1. Family voice and choice
2. Team-based
3. Natural supports
4. Collaboration and integration
5. Community-based
6. Culturally respectful
7. Individualized
8. Strengths-based
9. Persistence
- 10 . Outcomes-based

Juvenile Justice Commission (JJC) – This committee is comprised of volunteer community members appointed by the Presiding Superior Court Judge who commit to four-year terms. The JJC chair oversees the bi-monthly meetings where the Judge, Director of Social Services, Chief Probation Officer, Juvenile Deputy Chief Probation Officer, and Juvenile Facility Superintendent meet to discuss current State Juvenile Legislature and provide department updates to the JJC Commission. Rotating members from the JJC Commission are assigned to observe all juvenile court 300 and 600 hearings and conduct an annual inspection of the Tehama County Juvenile Detention Facility for submission to the Board and State Community Corrections (BSCC).

Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council (JJCC) - Under WI 749.22, this Council is responsible for developing a comprehensive, multi-agency juvenile justice plan aimed at decreasing crime and delinquency among at-risk youth. The Council is required to annually review the JJCPA Plan and make modifications as necessary. The JJCC consists of a diverse membership from numerous agencies, organizations, and community members throughout the County who share a common interest in and a desire to participate in the development and implementation of innovative ideas for addressing, preventing and responding to juvenile criminal behavior in the community. This includes the rehabilitation of juveniles who through their prior criminal conduct are already involved in the Juvenile Justice System, as well as the implementation of early intervention strategies to divert at-risk youth from unnecessary exposure to the Juvenile Justice System.

B. Identifying and Prioritizing Focus Areas

Identify and prioritize the neighborhoods, schools, and other areas of the county that face the most significant public safety risk from juvenile crime.

Tehama County is a widespread rural county being the 42nd largest county in California with a 2025 population of 64,665 and a growth rate of 0.33% in the past year according to the most recent US census data. It is a relatively poor county in comparison to the rest of the state with a median household income of $63,784 per year, and an overall poverty rate of 18.2%. Through collaboration with our county partners and the fact that the juvenile probation population in general is very small in comparison to other like counties there is not one particular area in the county that seems to be higher in crime than other areas, so we focus on the county as a whole. In juvenile supervision we focus on the high risk/high needs youth and have partnered with our allied agencies in offering several evidenced-based programs, including MRT, ART, drug and alcohol counseling, Project RESTORE which offers mental health counseling (both individual and family), drug and alcohol counseling, and youth mentoring, and the Job Training Center which focuses on life skills, steps to attaining employment, and college application assistance with completing FAFSA and Financial Aid.

C. Juvenile Justice Action Strategy

Describe your county's juvenile justice action strategy. Include an explanation of your county's continuum of responses to juvenile crime and delinquency as well as a description of the approach used to ensure a collaborative and integrated approach for implementing a system of swift, certain, and graduated responses for at-risk youth and juvenile offenders.

The county follows an evidence-based practice guide designed to focus the department's efforts on six critical areas of focus which have become the guiding framework for EBP. Those six areas are as follows:

1. One clear vision for EBP in Tehama County, "fewer crimes, fewer victims"
2. Continue to implement and improve evidence-based practices

3. Develop programs to support the mission
4. Training to fit the vision
5. Perform case management using evidence-based treatment programs
6. Make data a priority

Also within the plan is the development of a response matrix with a goal of reducing the likelihood that a juvenile will re-offend by identifying their specific risk level and criminogenic needs using the Juvenile Assessment and Intervention System (JAIS) tool, and the presumptive response matrix to compare overall risk levels and severity of the violations to impose sanctions for negative behaviors or incentives for positive behaviors. Under the direct supervision of probation officers (high risk offenders are contacted a minimum of four times per month) and close collaboration with our allied county services providers we meet on a regular basis to discuss cases to provide swift, certain, and graduated responses in a timely manner. Additionally, we provide services based on assessed needs specific to each individual youth.

D. Comprehensive Plan Revisions

Describe how your Plan has been updated for this year:

We have added two new programs that serve at-risk youth this year:

Resourceful Adolescent Program

Tehama County Probation has developed a contract with Northern Valley Catholic Social Services to provide the Resourceful Adolescent Program (RAP), which serves in custody and out of custody youth. This program was designed as a prevention program that aims to build resilience, enhance coping skills, and reduce risk factors associated with depression, anxiety, and emotional distress. Group sessions are once a week for 40-50 minutes and focus on recognizing strengths, building confidence, managing emotions, self-regulation, cognitive behavioral tools, problem-solving skills, navigating relationships, reducing conflict, building support networks, empathy, promoting peacekeeping, and healthy decision-making.

Seven Challenges Program for Adolescents

Tehama County Probation has partnered with Children's First to offer the Seven Challenges Program for in custody and out of custody youth. This program targets drug addiction and abuse and aims to meet youth where they are, which is usually resistant and reluctant to change. Counselors avoid power struggles and insincere commitments to change by striving for honesty and engagement. They use education, finesse, and respectful confrontation to lead youth toward a drug free lifestyle by taking a slow but steady approach.

If your Plan has not been updated this year, explain why no changes to your plan are necessary:

Part II. Juvenile Justice Crime Prevention Act (JJCPA) – (Government Code Section 30061(b)(4))

A. Information Sharing and Data

Describe your information systems and their ability to facilitate the sharing of data across agencies within your county. Describe the data obtained through these systems and how those data are used to measure the success of juvenile justice programs and strategies.

Tehama County Probation houses the majority of data related to justice-involved youth utilizing Caseload Explorer (CE) by AutoMon for most of our needs. CE provides secure technology for protecting, organizing, sharing, and managing client information. The application can be connected and integrated with multiple applications and planning tools. CE contains all data related to each youth, such as: charges, dispositions, identifying information, detention data, contact events, placement information, treatment programs, assessment results and case plans. Juvenile probation officers utilize the Juvenile Assessment and Intervention System (JAIS) tool with probation officers receiving initial as well as ongoing training in the tool. This assessment tool gives the ability to collect data and project future outcomes, enhancing the ability to implement effective evidence-based programs to benefit juvenile offenders.

While CE contains all placement (foster care) information pertinent to the Probation Department, the department also understands the role other community resources have in the lives of placement youth and has partnered with these agencies to access, utilize, and share data with a number of information systems specific to the youth in placement.

Probation partners with Health and Human Services, Child Welfare Services, for access to Child Welfare/Case Management System (CWS/CMS). This system is used by probation officers to not only record services provided to youth in placement, but also to identify and access child abuse/neglect information on all youth referred to the department.

B. Juvenile Justice Coordinating Councils:

Does your county have a fully constituted Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council (JJCC) as prescribed by Welfare & Institutions Code Section 749.22?

These spaces can take the form of loosely organized individuals sharing space and tools, or groups collaborating on projects, makerspaces are united in the purpose of providing access to equipment and education, and all are unique in exactly how they are arranged to fit the purposes of the communities they serve

Part III. Youthful Offender Block Grant (YOBG) – (Welfare & Institutions Code Section 1961(a).

A. Strategy for Non-707(b) Offenders

Describe your county's overall strategy for dealing with non-707(b) youthful offenders who are not eligible for commitment to the Division of Juvenile Justice. Explain how this Plan relates to or supports that strategy.

Our strategy for use of the YOBG fund for non-707(b) offenders is to continue to focus on improving the results of Evidence-Based Practices (EBP) through staff implementation to:

- Identify target populations in probation that have increased recidivism rates
- Identify what programs or services are currently in place to meet the needs of this population
- If services are being delivered to this population, then a more thorough examination of the application will be reviewed and if necessary additional services provided
- If the population is not being targeted for services, then a review of which services and programs in existence could be applied to assist this population in reducing recidivism rates
- If there are no programs or services in existence that would benefit this population then research will be conducted to identify EBP that would effectively target this population and help reduce their recidivism.

Generally, non-707(b) offenders remain under the jurisdiction of the local court and are placed in camps or programs currently contracted with Tehama County. Youth Offender Block Grant funds allocated to Tehama County Probation will be used to maintain evidence-based programs that are intended to keep youth from penetrating further into the juvenile justice system.

Evidenced-Based Programs offered through Tehama County Probation include:

- ✓ Targeted (focused) drug and alcohol abuse prevention programs
- ✓ Aggression Replacement Therapy (ART)
- ✓ Moral Reconation Therapy (MRT)
- ✓ Mental Health Counseling

- ✓ Parent Project is offered to parents of high-risk youth and is facilitated by trained probation staff
- ✓ Change Company Interactive Journaling
- ✓ Resourceful Adolescent Program

B. Regional Agreements

Describe any regional agreements or arrangements to be supported with YOBG funds.

Tehama County has a contract with the Maxine Singer Youth Guidance Center (aka: Camp Singer) and is used as a sentencing alternative for the Court. Camp Singer offers a one-year behavioral modification evidence-based treatment program.

Tehama County Probation also has a contract with Tehama County Department of Education to fund a portion of a teaching position to support Individual Education Programs (IEP) in the juvenile detention facility court school.

C. Funded Programs, Placements, Services, Strategies and/or System Enhancements

Using the templates below, provide details for each program, strategy, and/or system enhancement that will be funded by the Youthful Offender Block Grant (YOBG). 3. Description:

ART is a 10-week program (3 hours per week). Facilitators teach classes in the Juvenile Detention Center. Anger control training using the anger control chain is a process taught to the youth to utilize in situations that cause them to get angry. The concept of anger control is as follows:

- Triggers (external and internal)- The situation that starts the slide into anger and the self-talk that perpetuates it
- Cues- Physical signs of becoming angry
- Anger reducers- Three (deep breathing, counting backwards, and pleasant imagery) to help reduce or take our mind off the situation.
